Delay of Civil Rights Bill to Fall Is Hinted

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield raised the possibility today that the Senate may not act before fall on the civil rights bill.

The Montana senator told reporters he fears a southern filibuster may tie up the Senate through the presidential nominating conventions this summer. Republicans meet in San Francisco in July and Democrats in Atlantic City, N.J., in August.

"I wouldn't be surprised if we go through both conventions on this bill," Mansfield said. He added "that if this happens the Senate probably will recess briefly for the party meetings."

"I always anticipate the worst and hope for the best," Mansfield said.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., who joined Mansfield at that point, said he hopes the Senate won't be tied up that long.

Humphrey, floor manager for the House-passed civil rights bill, said it is conceivable that the filibuster cannot be broken for months. But he added:

"I am optimistic. I think we can get this bill passed in reasonable time if we just buckle down and work."

The Senate argument was centered for the time being on bill's voting rights sections which backers called a modest step toward winning the ballot for more Negroes in the south.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., gave this description of the section in a prepared speech, explaining that he personally "would prefer a more direct and positive approach to the problem."

"I would prefer, in fact, that postmasters or other local federal officials be authorized to

Expansion Group Ends Conference

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The State Economic Expansion Study Commission ended a two-day idea-seeking session at Little Rock Tuesday, concentrating on educational resources the second day.

The commission was created by the 1963 General Assembly to form suggestions on improving the state's economy. It will complete by October a report to the 1965 General Assembly.

During the session Monday and Tuesday the Commission gathered from businessmen, legislators, attorneys and utility executives ideas to sift for the report.

Some of the comments presented Tuesday were:

An excess of small, poor school districts is the major ill of Arkansas education.

Vocational education in public schools in Arkansas is 30 years behind times and ineffectual in the face of modern scientific advances.

No original research — the kind that attracts the attention of high-paying industries is being done in Arkansas.

Not enough money is being provided for vocational training of school dropouts and those unsuited for academic training.

The commission agreed that the present structure of utilities in the state is sufficient and no new legislation is needed.

It heard a suggestion that the state income tax structure needs revision, to eliminate duplication of taxation.

Members of the commission suggested that the University of Arkansas' Graduate Institute of Technology should be expanded and that research at the university and other state schools should be encouraged.

The commission will hold another idea session April 13-14.

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Joe Hubbard, 32, of Russellville, said Tuesday that he would file Thursday as a candidate for governor.

Asks More for Indigent Patients

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Federal officials notified Welfare Commissioner Jim Phillips today of regional approval of a plan to provide more money for treatment of indigent patients at the University of Arkansas Medical Center in Little Rock.

The plan still must be approved in Washington. The telegram noted approval by regional representative Val M. Keating of the U.S. Health, Education and Welfare Department in Dallas.

The plan was worked out at a special legislative session last week. It calls for the medical center to get some of its operating money through the Welfare Department where it will be matched on an 80-20 basis by the federal government.

Hamilton Moses Will Replace Rockefeller

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus today appointed C. Hamilton Moses of Little Rock to replace Winthrop Rockefeller on the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission.

Faubus said he would ask other members of the commission to name Moses as chairman of the agency, the position Rockefeller held for nine years.

The governor announced the appointment with Moses at his side at a news conference. He at first declined to comment on the job Rockefeller had done. Then, at the urging of newsmen, he rebuked Rockefeller for participating in partisan politics while serving on the commission.

"I feel that if a member of the commission displayed too much partisan politics it would be difficult for him to sit down and talk with all members of a community about industrialization," Faubus said.

"In this Rockefeller has failed in the last two or three years," he added. During this period Rockefeller has been extremely active in behalf of the Republican Party.

"No other member of this commission made partisan speeches for a local candidate," Faubus said. "If a Democrat had done so, I would have suggested that it was improper. And if a Democratic Party official had asked me to put him on the AIDC, I would have told him he would have to resign his party position first."

Faubus said he expects a great job from Moses, who is a long-time promoter of industrial development in Arkansas. He was one of the founders of the "Arkansas Plan" for industrialization developed in 1943 when he was president of Arkansas Power & Light Co.

Rockefeller, reached at his home, said he was very pleased that Moses had been assigned to the job.

"He has represented industrial development well for a

Accident in MOP Yards Fatal to Man

A Negro man was badly crushed by a rolling telephone pole in the Missouri Pacific yards about 7:45 a.m. Wednesday and his injuries proved fatal some three hours later.

Willis Cheatham, 55, of Emmet, died in a local hospital about mid-morning. He sustained internal injuries and a badly crushed leg. He was rushed to a local hospital by a Herndon-Cornelius ambulance.

The man was helping unload the poles when they shifted and one hit him.

The plan was worked out at a special legislative session last week. It calls for the medical center to get some of its operating money through the Welfare Department where it will be matched on an 80-20 basis by the federal government.

Bi-Racial Committee Endorsed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two groups endorsed Tuesday the proposed bi-racial committee to study the school integration situation in Little Rock.

Negro leaders threatened a boycott by the city's 7,000 Negro pupils for next Monday, contending school integration here is only "tokenism."

The Little Rock P-T-A Council and the United Church Women of Pulaski County unanimously backed the committee proposal.

The Greater Little Rock Ministerial Association suggested it, and has named its member. The Little Rock City Manager Board, which was to name a member, has not discussed the proposal. The Little Rock School Board and Little Rock Chamber of Commerce have not decided what to do.

The two anti-segregation groups threatening the boycott — the Council on Community Affairs and the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee — have agreed to name their four members.

The COCA and SNCC said that a second rally to boost the boycott would be here Friday night, with Bishop John D. White of the African Methodist Episcopal Church scheduled to speak.

DOUGLAS, Isle of Man (AP) — This resort island in the Irish Sea challenged Britain's teenage "wild ones" today to come over, cause trouble and get a thrashing.

"It is the greatest deterrent against hooligans. If they try to invade and terrorize our island this summer their activities will be nipped in the bud."

Gangs of teen-agers terrorized the English east coast resorts of Clacton and Margate over Easter weekend.

The Isle of Man, midway between England and Ireland, is part of the United Kingdom but has its own laws. Birching has been abolished in the rest of Britain.

Faubus Silent on Spa Gambling

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus showed little inclination today to talk about the gambling situation in Hot Springs.

On urging by newsmen, he said he was pleased that Hot Springs officials had closed the gambling casinos without forcing him to act.

"All law enforcement is properly handled on the local level," he said, apparently ready to dismiss the subject.

Faubus refused to re-enter a verbal dispute with the Rev. Robert Fudge, a Hot Springs minister, who criticized the governor for political motives in the crackdown on gambling.

Faubus asked at a news conference Monday what Fudge had ever done to halt gambling in Hot Springs. Fudge replied Monday night that he had asked both local officials and Faubus to move against the gamblers.

"I knew I had some material from him," Faubus said today. "But I notice he said he moved to Hot Springs seven years ago. I assume he knew where he was moving."

Rockefeller Still Silent on His Plans

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller walked out of the administration of Gov. Orval E. Faubus today, and may be heading for a gubernatorial showdown with the governor.

"I am still a member of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission," Rockefeller told an Arkadelphia banquet meeting Tuesday night. "After midnight (Tuesday night) I might expand my remarks and make them more interesting."

Rockefeller said earlier this year that he was thinking seriously about running for governor. Later he said he had decided whether he would run, but wanted Faubus to have first chance at announcing his plans.

The executive committee of the Republican Party has endorsed Rockefeller, GOP national committeeman from Arkansas, as a gubernatorial candidate.

The action indicated that a rift between Rockefeller and party chairman William L. Spicer had healed and that a solid GOP backed his candidacy.

Rockefeller submitted his resignation as chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission in a letter to Faubus last Saturday. His resignation was effective today.

He has been the chairman of the AIDC since it was created in 1955. The agency is credited with bringing 600 industries and 90,000 new jobs to the state.

Rockefeller did not say why he was resigning.

His popular support helped him weather a 1963 legislative attempt to remove him from the AIDC.

Republicans have started a "Draft Rockefeller for Governor" movement, and GOP conducted polls in Clark and Conway counties show 50 per cent of those polled would vote for Rockefeller. Conway County is where Rockefeller lives at his plush ranch atop Petit Jean Mountain.

Rockefeller said earlier this year that he would quit the AIDC if he decided to run for governor.

Revolt to Oust President of Brazil Spreads

By FRANK BRUTTO
RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — A revolt to oust President Joao Goulart gathered speed today.

Declaring Brazil will never become another Cuba, army, navy and state political leaders deserted Goulart. The rebels said their army columns marching on Rio de Janeiro were being joined by soldiers sent out by Goulart to repel them.

Firing was reported in Rio itself. Some soldiers in famed Copacabana fortress, in the fashionable beach and apartment section of Rio, proclaimed their solidarity with the rebels.

Shortly afterward, firing between the fort and soldiers on a nearby hill broke out, a radio station source reported. He said 10 officers and nine soldiers were wounded when the rebels took over the fort.

In a series of broadcasts, the rebels claimed seven of Brazil's 27 states had rallied to their banner in a drive to "lift the Red yoke" from Brazil.

WRINKLES WORRY WOMAN
30; CAN MARITAL
PROBLEM BE CAUSE?
By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

Dear Dr. Brothers: I'm in my early thirties, and just can't believe that I'm old enough to be as wrinkled as I am. In the past half a year my eyes, forehead and mouth have gotten lines. I had a marriage problem that began about three years ago. I wonder if tension might have something to do with premature wrinkles? If so, what can I do to stop their progress?
—B. M. C.

Dear B. M. C.: Our skin is affected by tensions, just as every other part of the body may be. It is particularly susceptible, because it is actually the largest organ of the human body. What's more, it's completely exposed, so that any change from a physical or mental source literally pops out at us.

It's logical to assume that your emotional strain accounts for some of your wrinkles. It may also explain what seems to be an extraordinary concern about them.

Let's eliminate some of the other causes of wrinkles. Early thirties does seem early for age to deepen lines around the face. However, some people inherit a skin that loses its fullness early. You would have to look back at previous generations to know whether this is true in your case.

If age is the cause, there's no cure, but the process can be slowed. A dermatologist might feel that you're abusing your skin with too much care, and too much camouflage. Over-treatment and overpainting can be very troublesome to sensitive skin.

Another physical possibility is eye-strain. People who have trouble seeing, squint and draw up their faces in unnatural lines. The longer the eyes go unattended, the more permanent, deeper this compensation for bad eyesight becomes.

Now let's go back three years to see some of the psychological possibilities for your wrinkles.

In your late twenties, you began to worry. You may have felt angry, jealous, even frightened for yourself. These emotions register on the face. Tight shoes will make you grimace in pain, but fortunately, the shoes can be taken off, and the pain will stop. But constant, nagging emotional pain will not quit.

When you're alone, your mind keeps registered the inner feelings. Even in sleep, the unconscious thoughts keep a disturbed strain on the muscles in your face. Under stress, many people lose weight. Thinness in the face takes away some of the youthful look. The skin is looser, and wrinkles tend to show.

In a marital difficulty, a woman often panics over the need to retain the appearance of her youth. She realizes that attractiveness may influence a second marriage. This panic brings her to what she considers preservative treatment that, if overdone, can actually age her face.

Clenching is actually what you do with your face when you become tense. Some of this tightening can be eliminated consciously, if you'll think about it and catch yourself. Realize when your muscles are drawn up, and purposely relax them.

You might sit in front of the mirror, and study the look of composure. Once you get the feel of it, you may be able to relax your face into it without looking into the mirror.

If you are really worried, a dermatologist can certainly tell you what to do, and what not to do. Of course, the final solution is to reduce your worries and tensions. Your face will probably always show that you have endured a difficult time, but the sooner you recover, the better chance you'll have of stopping wrinkles.

A Note On The Sexes

Men and women don't seem to understand one another. The answer might be that they're not speaking the same language. For example, "No, don't bother," a man eventually discovers may mean "yes, please do."

The two sexes use different phrases all over the world. In America, for instance, if a man found himself in a circle of women he might hear phrases like "My dear, I could have curled up and died," "Isn't that darling?" "I could just scream." On the other hand if a woman was seated in the midst of males, she'd hear phrases like "The guy has no guts," "He'll pay through the nose," or "He is off his rocker." However, even when men and women use the same words, like "love" or "sex," that's what I want," they often mean different things. Perhaps what we need is a new dictionary, one that will give the double meanings: his and hers.

leading the country of 71 million inhabitants to communism by nationalization of private industry, expropriation of land and his demand to legalize the Communist party. Goulart says he is only working to improve the lot of 20 million illiterate peasants.

By EDGAR MILLER

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—The revolt against President Joao Goulart spread to Brazil's big industrial state of Sao Paulo today, but the president claimed support of three of the nation's four army commands.

Gen. Amaury Kruehl, commander of the 2nd Army, announced from his headquarters in Sao Paulo City, 220 miles southwest of Rio de Janeiro, that he had joined the revolt against Goulart's left-leaning regime to "free the nation from the Communist yoke."

A rebel broadcast from Minas Gerais State, where the revolt erupted Tuesday, said Kruehl would march on Rio.

The rebel network also broadcast a proclamation by Gen. Olimpio Mourao from the "revolutionary capital" at Juiz de Fora, 80 miles north of Rio, that he and 30,000 troops were marching against Goulart.

Gov. Ademar de Barros of Sao Paulo, longtime foe of Goulart, broadcast claims that six states had joined in the revolt and were dispatching troops to Rio.

Goulart ordered troops to move against Juiz de Fora and Belo Horizonte, state capital of Minas Gerais.

Thirty tanks circled the War Ministry in Rio and additional troops reinforced the city's garrison.

The Communist-dominated General Command of Workers called a general strike in support of the president.

The government's national radio stayed on the air during the night broadcasting reports on military units it said were standing by Goulart. It claimed support of the 1st Army stationed in Rio, the 4th Army in Recife and the 3rd Army in Porto Alegre.

In a statement to the nation, Goulart called for "the most vehement repudiation of those who seek to install disorder and wound democratic institutions in a moment in which the federal government with the support of the people and the armed forces finds itself trying to direct peacefully the economic and social recuperation of the country."

Ailing War Minister Jair Dantas Ribeiro issued a communique from his hospital bed saying he was reassuming active command. He promised that the military would act with "maximum energy against the rebels."

To prevent a run on banks, the Finance Ministry ordered a three-day bank holiday.

A pledge of loyalty to Goulart came from Miguel Arraes, leftist governor of Pernambuco State in the poverty-stricken north.

The state capital of Recife was reported quiet, but as a protective measure, the governor's palace was placed under heavy guard.

Leaders of the rebellion insisted they were not trying to seize power but were determined to save Brazil from a Communist takeover.

De Barros said he and the people of Sao Paulo would never "permit Brazil to be Cubanized."

Kruehl said his 2nd Army was marching on Rio "to save the fatherland in danger, freeing it from the Red yoke."

The rebellion, he said, was "aimed exclusively at neutralizing Communist action which has infiltrated a number of governmental organs, principally in leadership, for the sole aim of seizing power."

New Terror Stories Come From Alaska

By WARD SIMS

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—The terror of earthquake and tidal wave was reflected today in casualty figures and pledges of help for stricken south-central Alaska.

accurate total is obtained.

The health office tally showed 24 dead and 79 presumed dead, plus 55 injured. The known and presumed dead figures were up seven from a state civil defense total Tuesday night.

Omitted from the count was a Coast Guard-reported death at its Cape Elias station on Kayak Island. No effort was made to check deaths in the Turnagain suburb of Anchorage, where much of the residential area tumbled into the bay. There was word of at least one death in Turnagain.

Additionally, unofficial reports listed 31 persons missing who did not show on the health office list, including 23 at Chenega, 5 at Port Ashton and 3 at Port Nellie Juan.

In Anchorage, the state's largest city, a bright spring sun warmed crews removing wreckage from the Friday evening quake.

By this morning, most debris had been cleared. Workmen were preparing to remove what items of value they could from condemned buildings and start the mammoth job of reconstruction.

In Washington, federal agencies charged with meeting the emergencies of natural disaster were under orders from President Johnson to hurry relief. Supplies were being rushed to the ravaged south central section of the state in a giant airlift by military and commercial planes.

The Air Force, Navy and Military Air Transport Service flew to both Anchorage and Kodiak. Four commercial airlines—Northwest, Alaska, Pacific Northern and Pan American—carried tons of food, hardware and clothing.

Edward A. McDermott, the President's director of emergency planning, was attempting to determine how much federal relief could be made available under existing programs and what new legislation would be required to restore the state stricken by the temblor and sea waves.

The Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency announced plans to open an emergency office in Anchorage to speed programs of the Community Facilities Administration, the Federal Housing Administration and the Urban Renewal Administration.

Alaska Gov. William A. Egan said it may be necessary to call a special session of the state legislature next fall to meet problems of reduced tax income and increased state spending resulting from the tragedy.

Showers in Some Parts of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Showers sprinkled areas in the far West and rain and snow fell in Eastern sections but April started today with dry weather in most other parts of the nation.

Cold weather continued in sections of the Northeast but temperatures moderated in the Southeast after two days of unseasonably freezing weather which caused millions of dollars damage to early spring vegetable and peach crops.

Readings were near zero in parts of northern New England, some 30 degrees below normal marks. There was a warming trend in the Midwest after several days of abnormally cold spring weather.

The showers in the West splashed the length of the Pacific Coast and extended into some inland areas, bringing much-needed moisture to Western river valleys.

In the East, rain fell in the Middle Atlantic States while snow flurried in sections of Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Temperatures in most of the Southeast generally were in the Court Reverses Race Conviction

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court reversed today a contempt conviction in an Alabama court of a Negro woman who refused to answer questions unless she was addressed as "Miss Hamilton," instead of just "Mary."

The woman, a field secretary for the Congress of Racial Equality, had been called into court with a large number of Negroes who faced charges growing out of racial demonstrations in Etowah County, in June, 1963.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People appealed to the Supreme Court on behalf of the woman. It asked the high tribunal to strike down the practice in some Southern courts of addressing Negroes by their first names in court proceedings.

Russell Spells Difference in Celtic Win

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP)—"Bill Russell and defense were the story," Coach Red Auerbach said as he slumped wearily on the dressing room bench.

The old pro Boston Celtics had just beaten Cincinnati 103-87 and taken a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven Eastern Division finals of the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Jack McMahon, disappointed coach of the Royals, has more than the defeat on his mind. He forecasts a gloomy future unless rookie rebounder Jerry Lucas improves tremendously — and quickly. What's more Oscar Robertson, the league's Most Valuable Player, is scheduled for an X-ray of his aching right wrist Wednesday.

While the second game of the Eastern struggle is here Thursday night, the Western finals open with St. Louis at San Francisco Wednesday night. The Hawks ousted Los Angeles in the division semifinals.

Russell scored 18 points, grabbed 31 rebounds, blocked nearly a dozen shots and helped demoralize Cincinnati on an off night.

"That Russell is fantastic," Auerbach said. "When he plays like that, any opponent is in trouble. He sure dominated this game."

"Our defense was good in the second quarter and again in the third when he broke it open. We did a good job on Robertson. I can't use enough superlatives about him and his 20 points have to be the lowest against us all year."

"I don't know about future games. But they keep counting us out and we keep showing up."

Auerbach added with a sigh: "This first game's a tough one."

"We don't have much of a future unless Lucas can break out of it," McMahon said. "The whole pattern of our team is based on his rebounding."

In 45 minutes, Lucas managed only 11 points and seven rebounds.

Sam Jones, game high scorer with 27 points, including 20 in the second half, sparked a third-quarter clincher as Boston scored on its first seven field goal attempts. Tommy Heinsohn added 20.

Wayne Embry led the Royals with 21.

3-Time Winner Swells Derby

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Lapping, winner of three races at Bowie, arrived at Oaklawn Park Tuesday, swelling the ranks of probable starters for Saturday's $25,000 added Arkansas Derby.

The bay son of Intent and Bay was among the 28 nominated for the mile and a furlong closing day classic for 3-year-olds. However, the Oaklawn Jockey Club had received no notice that he would be entered.

A field of 10 to 12 is expected to go to the post in the derby.

2-Year-Olds to Settle Who's Champ

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — A dozen top 2-year-olds settle the juvenile championship at Oaklawn Park in the $5,000 Preview today.

The 4-furlong allowance test for fillies and colts will show speedsters Bates, I'm Fancy, Blockson, Above Deck and Dimenson.

The only fillies entered are John D. Askew's Ballerunner and Audley Farm's Busby Bunnio, who finished third and sixth, respectively, behind Henry Forrest's Our Minnie in the $5,000 Ballerina.

The Ballerina, last Wednesday, was exclusively for fillies. Our Minnie will not run in the Preview, but Forrest's Cubby Bear is coupled with J. Graham Brown's I'm Fancy.

R. E. L. Kelley's My Charge and C. N. Holt's Cloud Chief make another potential entry.

Others entered: C. B. McNeill's Redbird Coat, R. L. Yarbrough's Cheiron Count, and M. and J. Thompson's Larry Light.

I'm Fancy is the only member of the field with two victories, and shoulders top weight of 122 pounds, including Billy Phelps.

Doug Davis Jr.'s Bates is the probable favorite at 119 pounds. Jockey Robert Gallimore, fourth leading rider at Oaklawn, was sidelined—probably for the last four days of the season—by an injury in Monday's sixth race. Gallimore, 25, of McKenzie, Tenn., suffered a fractured finger as he left the starting gate aboard Rough Story in the third race.

Beau Noor won a sizzling stretch duel to capture the $3,500 feature Tuesday.

Mets to Have the Largest Scoreboard

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — If the Beatles are a sort of shrieking yellow, what color are the New York Mets?

Tune in the new Shea Stadium scoreboard, and find out.

The scoreboard, largest in the world, is being built for the new stadium in which the Mets will open against the Pittsburgh Pirates on April 17. The board has 28,000 lights, shows movies, plays music in color — and even keeps score.

A model was unveiled Tuesday at a Manhattan hotel, and the press was duly impressed.

First, the inventor, Bob Roston, played some music on a tape recorder. Each musical note produced a different color on the white shell in back of the scoreboard. The shell is 175 feet long, which will give you an idea of the size of this new board.

"High notes come out in yellow, and so on down through the darker colors for the low notes," Roston said. "It's the first time this has ever been tried on a scoreboard."

Roston's firm designed the exploding scoreboard for the Chicago White Sox. He said this one will be much larger, but it will not explode.

Roston didn't say, but the reason probably is that gunpowder could go stale waiting for the 10th-place Mets to hit a homer.

Instead the board will play music, flash the colors, display the words for songs, and show color slides of each player as he comes to bat on a screen that works like the ones in the drive-in movies.

The board can also show movies, or even television programs, if a game is held up by rain.

This brought suggestions that the board be used to bring in the broadcasts of other games, on those frequent occasions when the Mets are behind 13-1 in the third inning.

Roston played some more music, this time "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," and the colors flashed on and off on the white shell like the background for an old Esther Williams movie.

2 Pro Grid Teams Swap Quarterback

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Coach Joe Kuharich apparently has decided on one thing: if his Philadelphia Eagles are destined to finish last in the National Football League's Eastern Division in 1964, it won't be with the same old faces.

Kuharich, who recently took over the Eagles' coaching job under a four-year contract, unloaded another old face Tuesday, trading quarterback Sonny Jurgensen to the Washington Redskins for quarterback Norm Snead.

In addition, the Eagles sent defensive back Jimmy Carr to the Redskins for his counterpart, Claude Crabbs.

The four-player deal was the second major move by the Eagles in less than two weeks. On March 20, Kuharich swapped pass-receiver Tommy McDonald to Dallas for two young linemen and a place kicker.

The only reason Kuharich offered for the Jurgensen deal was that he had obtained youth in the 24-year-old Snead.

Jurgensen, a seven-year NFL veteran with one of the finest passing arms in pro football, is 29.

The Carr - Crabbs swap also gave the Eagles an age advantage. Carr is 31, Crabbs 24.

Kuharich said the deal was "best in regard to our plans for the next four years or more. . . I know that Snead's record over the three years is impressive enough to indicate a very bright future for him."

On the other hand, Washington Coach Bill McPeak said he swapped youth for experience.

"Winning in 1964" said McPeak, "is imperative. Jurgensen, at this stage of his career, is more advanced than Snead, and I think, with the right supporting cast, he can take you all the way."

McPeak said he had not changed his prediction of future greatness for Snead, the Redskins' No. 1 draft choice in 1960.

Snead has been Washington's No. 1 quarterback since coming into the league from Wake Forest College in 1961. In three seasons the 6-foot-4, 215-pounder has completed 581 passes for 8,306 yards and 46 touchdowns.

Jurgensen, fourth draft choice of the Eagles in 1957, tossed 32 touchdown passes in 1962 when the Eagles finished second in the East, but the one-time Duke great has been beset by injuries ever since. Last year he missed half the season because of arm trouble.

Sawchuk strained a shoulder muscle in Sunday's game at Chicago and was released from the hospital late Tuesday after being in traction for more than 24 hours. He made 26 saves, four on point-blank shots.

Montreal, Red Wings Are Leading

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Pocket Rocket and Mr. Zero came through with clutch performances, leaving the Montreal Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings in the drivers' seats today in the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup playoffs.

Henri Richard, the little Rocket, scored with 25 seconds left to give the Canadiens a 3-2 victory over Toronto and goalie Terry Sawchuk posted his 11th Cup shutout in the Wings' 3-0 conquest of Chicago.

The triumphs gave Montreal and Detroit 2-1 margins in the best-of-seven semifinal series. The competition resumes in Toronto and Detroit Thursday night.

Richard, whose big brother Maurice holds the playoff record of 18 winning goals, stole the puck from Allan Stanley, the Leafs' veteran defenseman, and beat Johnny Bower on a solo effort for the deciding goal. The tally capped an uphill bat

Concern May Be Building for Dodgers

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
No immediate call for reinforcements is being considered, but cause for concern may be building at Los Angeles Dodgers headquarters over another shelling administered to the Untouchables.

For two straight days, the weak sisters of the National League Mob have fired a fusillade of hits and further shredded the Untouchable label attached to the Dodgers' four key pitchers — Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale, Johnny Podres and Ron Perranoski.

It was Podres' turn Tuesday as the Houston Colts ricocheted 11 hits around their Cocoa, Fla., base, came up with six runs in five innings and went on to a 6-3 exhibition baseball victory.

The day before, Drysdale had been subjected to a similar attack by the New York Mets, who belted the right-handed ace of the Los Angeles staff for eight hits and four earned runs in six innings.

In all, the Big Four—credited with 74 of the Dodgers' 99 victories en route to the National League pennant last season—has been tagged for 64 hits in 59 innings.

Even Koufax has not been safe. The brilliant left-handed strikeout artist who posted a 25-5 record, pitched 11 shutouts and had a 1.88 earned run average last year has given up 21 hits in 22 innings this spring and has a 3.27 ERA.

The hitting stars for the day were shortstops—Ron Hansen of the Chicago White Sox, Washington's Ed Brinkman and Philadelphia's Bobby Wine.

Hansen, who hit .226 last year, slammed two homers and drove in six runs as the White Sox edged St. Louis 7-6. Brinkman, a .228 batter, stroked two doubles and three singles in the Senators' 11-5 walloping of Baltimore.

Wine, a .215 hitter, had been hitless in 18 previous trips to the plate when he came up in the 11th inning with the bases loaded and slashed a single that gave the Phillies a 4-3 decision over Cincinnati.

Ron Santo hit a homer and two singles in the Chicago Cubs' 6-2 triumph over Cleveland. Willie Stargell banged a two-run homer as Pittsburgh belted the New York Mets 8-4 and Milwaukee's Hank Aaron homered for Milwaukee in a 6-3 victory over Detroit.

In other games, San Francisco walloped Boston 9-1, Kansas City edged the New York Yankees 5-4 in 10 innings, Minnesota shut out the Philadelphia B team 6-0 and the Los Angeles Angels defeated Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League 8-5.

Syrians Find 15 Guilty of Spying

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — A Syrian court found 15 persons guilty Monday of spying for Israel and sentenced 11 of them to death.

Included among those sentenced to death was a Lebanese Protestant minister, Jamil El Karh, who was described in the five-man court's verdict as the group's ringleader.

The minister's wife, Victoria Akhad, was sentenced to 15 years hard labor.

Youth a Bet to Shatter World Record

By BOB HARING
BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP) — Seventeen-year-old Roy Saari blossomed today as America's top Olympic prospect—and a good bet to shatter some world records.

That prophetic paragraph was written two years ago. But, except for Saari's age—he's 19 now—it's still correct.

Saari is perhaps the outstanding individual performer in the Men's National AAU Swimming and Diving Championships beginning here Thursday.

For the past two years he has won three events in the AAU indoor. Last week he was the only triple winner at the National Collegiate Championships. Now he'll be trying for a third straight AAU triple.

Saari, who first burst into Olympic prominence at the AAU indoor here two years ago, holds the world's record in the 1,500-meter freestyle. He has set American records in freestyle events from 200 yards to 1,650 yards and also has set American marks in the 200 and 400-yard individual medleys.

Saari, son of an El Segundo Calif., swimming coach and a sophomore at the University of Southern California, will be after his first victory in this meet Thursday. He's entered in both the 400-yard individual medley and 1,650-yard freestyle, both of which he won in record time last year, but is expected to choose only the longer race.

He won the 1,650 easily at the collegiate meet in 16:49 minutes, which bettered his listed American record. He might be more closely pressed here, because his main long-distance rival, Don Schollander of Santa Clara, Calif., is a high school boy.

Saari also is in the 500-yard freestyle and is entered in both the 200-yard individual medley and freestyle, but probably will compete in the medley, which he won in a record 1:56.7 at the NCAA.

The top six Americans in each event here qualify for the Olympic trials in New York in August.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—One accepted, if regrettable, fact of television life is that network public affairs shows, documentaries and other so-called "special projects," rarely attract the big audiences that routinely watch entertainment shows.

What makes it all the more sad is that television has learned how to do these shows very well, usually with brilliant camera work and clear, sharp writing.

There are a handful of specialists who are important because their programs are the ones to which networks point with pride and list as examples of "public service."

The top CBS specialist, until his recent promotion to head the whole network news operation, was Fred Friendly of "CBS Reports." NBC has Reuben Frank and Irving Gittlin among others. ABC's top producers are one of television's few husband-wife teams, John Secondari and Helen Jean Rogers.

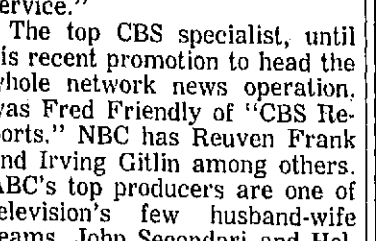

Secondari, who heads the network's special projects division, will be winding up on Sunday an ambitious effort, a four-part series called "The Saga of Western Man." It sketched developments of this hemisphere since 1492, when the new world was discovered.

Secondari, with his wife as the series' director, spotlighted the growth of the American man in the first three parts. But the final chapter, called "1964," will be a forward—instead of a backward—look.

It took a team of 40 to put together the series, including researchers. Secondari wrote the scripts and also served as narrator.

Ruling Favorable to Parents

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court held today that the parents of an injured child can recover for accident injury damages even though a jury denies damages to the child.

The ruling came in a Ouachita Circuit Court case in which a jury awarded $2,500 to E. J. Pigage Sr. and $500 to Mrs. Pigage for injuries suffered by E. J. Pigage Jr. in January 1962 when he ran in front of a car driven by Martha Virginia Chism.

Attorneys for the younger Pigage appealed the case in which the boy was not awarded damages. They said that the damage award was inconsistent because the boy did not receive an award.

Neither the Chism side nor the parents appealed the verdict.

Big Discovery in Space Is Announced

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Two astronomers say they've discovered an incredibly powerful source of light and radio waves in space. It's an object moving so fast and at such a great distance that current concepts of the universe's size and age have been upset.

Dr. Maarten Schmidt of the Mount Wilson and Palomar observatories said the object, believed to be an exploding galaxy or cluster of galaxies, is the most distant yet seen by man.

"We have had to throw our yardsticks out the window," he said.

Dr. Schmidt discovered the new object with the aid of radio astronomer Thomas A. Matthews. They said it is moving faster than anything ever observed in the heavens — approximately half the speed of light.

Until announcement of the new discovery, astronomers measured the speed and distance of objects by a technique called the "red shift." They said that the faster an object goes, the more its light shifts into the red part of the spectrum.

All distant objects, they said, appear to be going away from our part of the universe. They all seem to go faster — and get redder — the farther they recede.

Astronomers, using this method to measure speed and distance, figured the percentage of shift across the spectrum — toward red — equalled the percentage of the speed of light at which the object was traveling.

Thus, if the shift toward red was 1-10th of the way, they figured the object was going about

She nodded with approval as Charlie's look perked up. "It was the gringos, coming in after your General Kearny took New Mexico away from us, that gave this Weeping Widow tag to it. Perhaps we should call it Esmeralda."

"Changing the name won't stand in Jones' way."

"Back in Durango I have the original Perez map."

"The courts wouldn't recognize a claim based on that. It's been a lost mine for more'n 100 years. We'll have to keep her hid an' sell off the ore in dribbles an' drabs."

She looked a little let down. "I guess there's not much chance of selling ore in Tucson. What did you get for that load you brought in?"

"Under $5,000," Medders growled. "An' then got beat outa most of that!" He passed back her map and braced a hip against the coping.

Looking bitterly again at the signs of her duplicity Medders blew through his teeth but grudgingly shook his head. Jones, if he'd ever got a squint at that map, would have had his understrappers around here thicker than cloves on a Christmas ham.

But she caught his arm as he was about to stride off. "Can't gruffer still with his tone. "Jones threatened to hev me in court over you—somethin' about chain marks an' keepin' you prisoner."

She looked pretty uncomfortable, then faced him straightly. "I said you kept me chained up like a peon—I had to tell him something! I thought, being a banker, he would have enough money to open this mine."

"An' the marks?" Medders said.

She gnawed at her lip. Finally, sighing, she slipped off a boot and shyly poked the foot out toward him. "They're about gone now."

They were, for a fact. But the scars could be seen, pale ridges of tissue, suggestive and ugly.

"What made 'em?"

"Well . . . if you must know, I did." Rather plaintively she added, "I had to have something to back up my story—"

"Yeah. Like that bracelet," Medders said, "an' the map you fixed up. What did T.K. think of it?"

Looking bitterly again at the signs of her duplicity Medders blew through his teeth but grudgingly shook his head.

Jones, if he'd ever got a squint at that map, would have had his understrappers around here thicker than cloves on a Christmas ham.

But she caught his arm as he was about to stride off. "Can't you see I'm trying to be honest with you?"

"While you're bein' so honest why'd you come back?"

Flinging off her hand, he went stomping into the cabin.

When he came out with the Sharps she was just where he'd quit her, an arrested shape against the shaft coping.

Her eyes looked oddly soft and swimmy. "If you would only change your mind . . ."

She said abruptly: "Here—you keep the map, hostage to my continued good faith. It may help you believe I've been telling the truth . . . I really did come back to make amends if I could."

She had something up her sleeve and you could lay to that!

"All right," she said with a shaky little laugh. "I suppose in your eyes I'm a first class Judas goat, a conniving Jezebel, a Delilah of the wastelands. I guess, in your place, I might be suspicious too. But I'd never walk off without giving you a chance."

Medders, who hadn't the least intention of stepping out of this, grunted. He'd picked up the rifle thinking to have a look around. "Where-at was they workin' when them injuns run 'em off?"

"I don't know."

"Didn't figure you did. Well," he said, tearing up her map until it looked like something the rats had been at, "we got mebbe a week—10 days if we're lucky, before your Tucson banker friend gets around to really bearin' down."

It took part of two nights and a tagalong day to get his water buried where, should this deal turn sticky, it might make the big difference between what would suit Jones and what he'd settle for himself.

He was anxious to get back, but Begetta was tough and with a bit of pushing could probably raise Tubac inside three - four hours. Tubac, oldest town founded by white men in the territory and seat of the first newspaper, was now, owing to the spasmodic attentions of hostile Apaches, in a pretty advanced state of decay. But a handful of families still eked out a living from peaches, pomegranates and a few hills of maize, and a general store had managed to keep open in the interest of roundabout ranches.

The girl and himself would need more grub, and those 25 loaded shells for the Sharps

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union will not compromise on its unpaid assessments for U.N. peace-keeping operations in the Congo and Middle East or even discuss its refusal to pay them, Pravda said today.

Commentator Viktor Mayevsky wrote in the Communist party newspaper that the American-led effort to collect the assessments was "an overt line toward liquidation of the United Nations, toward undermining international cooperation."

The article recalled a Soviet statement to U.N. delegates on March 21 that continued efforts to collect the assessments might force Moscow "to reconsider our attitude toward the United Nations activity."

Under article 19 of the U.N. Charter, nations owing the equivalent of two years' debts to the organization can be deprived of voting rights.

The Soviet Union owes $52.6 million.

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Wang Ping-nan, Red Chinese ambassador to Poland, is expected to leave for Peking after April 8, the date for his 122nd session of secret talks with a representative of the United States.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said, "There is no information at this time to indicate that the talks will not continue here" with a new Chinese ambassador.

Both sides have maintained strict secrecy on the prolonged talks, which Wang began in Geneva in 1955. The talks are generally credited with helping to ease the 1958 and 1962 crises over the Formosa Strait.

Here's Some of Views of Sen. Fulbright

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the most powerful Democrats in Congress has suggested, in effect, that President Johnson stop playing to the gallery in his handling of foreign affairs.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in an 8,000-word speech Wednesday criticized the Johnson administration for yielding to the "malady of chronic and excessive caution."

He said "an effective foreign policy is one which concerns itself more with innovation abroad than with conciliation at home. It is sometimes necessary for leaders to do unpleasant and unpopular things."

Fulbright ranged the world—Communism, Russia, Red China, Viet Nam, Cuba, Latin America, Panama—calling for this country and its leaders to abandon ancient myths, do some re-thinking and face realities.

But on some of the problems he mentioned Fulbright didn't seem to have any new ideas himself.

Nevertheless, all this got a quick and cynical response from Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin.

Red China—Fulbright said we are committed to "inflexible policies from which we hesitate to depart" on Red China and other areas of Asia. What would he do about Red China?

He wouldn't recognize it, or agree to let it in the United Nations, or enter normal relations with it until it gives up its designs on Formosa.

But Fulbright belted the Johnson administration's handling of the Panama crisis and its hair-splitting: It willingness to "diplomatic" revision of the 1903 Panama Canal treaty but not to "negotiate" about it.

The senator suggested Panama got a pretty raw deal when the treaty was signed 61 years ago and Johnson should be will-sin, chairman of the platform committee at this summer's Republican convention.

In a House speech answering Fulbright he called the senator's talk a trial balloon launched with the blessing, support and probably the instigation of the Johnson administration.

He called it the "first gun in an administration drive to extricate itself as painlessly as possible from the morass of foreign policy blunders" of the past three years.

This writer asked Laird Wednesday night if he was implying that Johnson and Fulbright cooked up the speech between them. Laird said: "That's the implication."

The Fulbright speech created such heat in the Senate that practically all work on the civil rights bill stopped.

Cuba—He said invasion is unthinkable, a blockade is out of the question since it might lead to war, and that even the present American trade boycott aimed at trying to topple Fidel Castro is a failure.

He suggested acceptance of the continued existence of Castro as a "distasteful nuisance," but he neglected to say how this country should, or could, do business with him, if that's what he had in mind.

South Viet Nam—He was for continuing aid. But he was a little out of date here. The Johnson administration said last week it would do that.

Table Rock Lake also rose sharply just after the earthquake, but returned to normal quickly, Engineers said.

Wells and streams in parts of North Arkansas were muddy after the quake.

ing to "negotiate."

He said the President and his advisers have a responsibility in a situation like this to "exercise their own best judgment as to where the national interest lies" even though it may mean "unpopular decisions."

This country, Fulbright said, should re-examine its dealings with Russia to take advantage of the Russian-Red Chinese split and be prepared for revolutions in Latin America where "oligarchies" oppose peaceful social change.

But things really got mixed up when Laird called on Johnson to state his position on Fulbright's talk.

The White House issued a statement:

"It is a very interesting speech. But specifically in Cuba and Panama it does not represent the policy of this administration."

Meaningful Clues in Bathtub Murder

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Police said Monday that few meaningful clues have been turned up in the investigation of the mysterious bathtub murder of Mrs. Martha Coates, 24, a former Helena, Ark., resident.

Homicide Inspector Arthur Christiansen said a missing key and gold wedding band, and a bloody handprint are the only clues uncovered to date.

Christiansen has refused to discuss tests made on the handprint, found on a closet door in the Coates apartment.

Mrs. Coates, who was pregnant, was strangled with a necktie and silk stocking March 16.

Her stockbroker husband, David, 26, found the body. He is the son of James Coates, U.S. Commissioner in Little Rock, and she was the daughter of J. J. White, president of the Phillips National Bank in Helena.

The Chinese are engaged in a campaign apparently aimed at freezing Soviet influence out of the revolutionary movement in Africa, similar to a parallel effort to impress upon Asia that the Soviet Union is not an Asian nation. Impatient Air Hangs Over Nikita's Visit

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

An air of impatience hangs over Soviet Premier Khrushchev's visit to Hungary this week for talks with Communist leaders.

Communist parties around the world are choosing up sides in the Soviet-Chinese dispute, and it would not be surprising if Moscow decided to excommunicate certain elements and thus blow the lid off the controversy over ideologies.

The Budapest meeting may not produce the fireworks, but they do not appear far off. Some Red leaders are frantically seeking to avert a climactic show. The French party is calling for a world meeting soon.

Moscow, which has opposed the idea of a world meeting, may be coming around to the idea that it must be held. It is unlikely, however, that the Red Chinese would favor a Moscow-sponsored convention.

That Khrushchev is running out of patience is indicated in an attack on him published by Red Flag, Peking's theoretical journal. The attack is signed by pro-Chinese V. G. Wilcox, secretary-general of the New Zealand party. He accused the Russians of threatening to expel parties disagreeing with Khrushchev's cautious, long-term strategy for the world revolution.

Wilcox says Mikhail A. Suslov, Soviet party theoretician, voiced the threat during a Moscow meeting with a New Zealand delegation.

When their talks ended, Suslov said, according to Wilcox: "You are wrong. We had hoped you might change. If you change, you will remain within the ranks of the fraternal world parties of Marxism - Leninism. But if you do not change, then, of course, you will be outside the excluded."

This is the picture around the world:

ASIA
The powerful Indonesian party has gone over to the Chinese side. It disagreed with Moscow on the pace of world revolution, echoing the Chinese in proclaiming the time ripe for violent revolutionary action in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

The Japanese party is split, but the majority seems to lean to the Chinese.

In India, a pro-Chinese wing is becoming increasingly vocal. In North Viet Nam, Ho Chi Minh's party increasingly echoes the Chinese line against "revisionism." North Korea's party frequently supports Red China.

AFRICA
The Chinese are engaged in a campaign apparently aimed at freezing Soviet influence out of the revolutionary movement in Africa, similar to a parallel effort to impress upon Asia that the Soviet Union is not an Asian nation. Ex-Convict Will Keep Warden Job lard F. Gooding, despite a prison record that includes a life sentence, will keep his job as warden of the Richmond County prison camp.

Gooding, 46, was convicted about 20 years ago and given sentences of life and 20 years for two service station robberies. He was paroled after about seven years.

Richmond County commissioners agreed to retain him Monday after the State Pardon and Parole Board commuted his life sentence to the time he served and granted him a pardon to restore his civil rights.

Suggests a Cigarette Tax Hike

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Revenue Commissioner J. Orville Cheney predicted today that tax collections during the current fiscal year will exceed his earlier predictions by $1 million.

Six months ago Cheney forecast that revenues would climb from $181 million last year to $193 million during the current year, an increase of $12 million or $1 million a month.

He based his increased estimate on collection figures for the month of March which showed the total revenues up $1,673,276 to a new high of $15,244,081.

General revenues accounted for $1,141,728 and special revenues for $531,248 of the increase.

Tax collections for the first nine months of the fiscal year now total $140,030,590, an increase of $10,890,229 from the same period in the previous year.

Sales tax in March showed a healthy $740,386 increase to $5,673,126. The income tax increased $264,515 to $1,682,634.

Cheney predicted that the closing of gambling at Hot Springs would not have in immediate economic effect on the state.

He said that tourist visitors who had already made plans to come to Arkansas would most likely come any way.
